

TTRIDDLES

Previous (VA'EIRA) TTriddles:

[1] FPTL: ... and stand before Par'o; he's going to the water ...

Sh'mot 8:16 - God said to Moshe, 'Get up early in the morning, and confront Par'o when he goes out to the water. Say to him in My name, 'Let My people leave and serve Me.

Well-known division of the plagues into sets of three: Blood, Frogs, Lice. Then Wild Animals, Dever, Boils. Then Hail, Locust, Darkness. The first of each set, G-d sends Moshe to find Par'o at the Nile in early morning and warn him about the upcoming plague. Second of each set, Moshe goes to Par'o in his palace. Third of each set is brought without warning.

The above pasuk is from the lead-in to AROV. The phrase from the pasuk that is the FPTL TTRiddle is וְהִתְיַצֵּב לִפְנֵי פַרְעֹה הַנֶּה יֹצֵא הַמַּיִמָּה

6+5+400+10+90+2 (513) + 30+80+50+10 (170) + 80+200+70+5 (355) + 5+50+5 (60) + 10+6+90+1 (107) + 5+40+10+40+5 (100) = 1305. Res Ipsa Loquitur

[2] Adam • M'halal-el • Yaakov • Avraham*

Adam's son Kayin's first son was named CHANOCH. M'halal-el's son Yered's son was CHANOCH. Yaakov's son Reuven had a son named CHANOCH. Avraham had other children from Ketura (a.k.a. Hagar, according to some sources), including Midyan, who had a son named CHANOCH (without the VAV). CHANOCH is the name of more people in the Torah than any other name. (Amihud might be in second place being the name of three people in the Torah. There are two other Amihuds mentioned in Divrei HaYamim, but our comments apply to Torah only.)

[3] MazalPic

Picture of Mera, Atlantis princess from Aquaman, which has the power to draw out water. She makes a perfect representative of Aquarius, The Water Carrier, in Hebrew - D'LI, the bucket.

[4] Footer icons

[5] SBB (Sedra Box Background)

We are rolling this one over. Sometimes they are easy, but not the one for Va'eira. Prize for correct solution. 🧩
